

What About the Kids?

Jeremy M. Gwaltney
April 14, 2024

Key Thought: Biblical parenting is a walk of faith along the tightrope of giving important life instructions to your children, while preparing to release your kids into adulthood. We have to be humble, confident, and clear as we walk this journey.

Healthy Parenting is a walk of faith between two Biblical realities.

Reality #1 — Parenting is not _____.
(Proverbs 22:6m 14:12)

Reality #2 — Parenting does not _____.
(Ephesians 6:4)

Six Parenting Thoughts

Know the _____ of parenting and _____ what matters most.

I want my kids to know I will love them _____ and my door is always _____ when they need me.

There is a _____ who enforces a standard for right and wrong with _____ for our actions.

The best thing you can do for your kids is have a _____

Understand _____ season in life and your _____ season in life

_____ (0-3 yrs)
Key Goal: Establish love and _____.

_____ (2-10 yrs)
Key Goal: Establish fun and _____.

_____ (10-18 yrs)
Key Goal: Establish _____.

_____ (18+)
Key Goal: Relate as _____ and _____

Whatever level of engagement you have with their technology,

Require your kids to _____ to other authorities

When your kid struggles, _____

Take Action:

What are two things you are doing well? _____

What is one thing you need to improve most? _____

Two Final Thoughts

How Do I _____?

Reset with _____, _____ and _____.

Our relationship with God is meant to be experienced as a _____.
(Galatians 4:6-7)